

Please DO NOT allow use of cellular telephones while in flight. it is annoying and disturbing enough to listen to arrogant men who think all other passengers should be subjected to sharing in their personal and business affairs. Flight attendants already have a difficult enough time getting such passengers to listen to the mandatory safety announcement or to follow other safety and courtesy directives. Do not add to their, and other passengers', burden of enduring flight travel. The opportunity for being left alone in-flight is one of the few solaces we can use to escape from the rigors of airplanes. Allowing cellphone use in-flight will become uncontrollable.
